PERSON PROFILE

- Collaborated in different repositories including my own project, that was deployed in March 2023 where I was the Lead Developer, a social media platform for music fans to connect with others interested in attending the same music events.
 - Design and deploy an Excel based operational control file using Power BI and VBA, it efficiently collects data regarding stock in the warehouse, position of specific items by assigning geographic location in real time. Some other features of the Project including a forecast for the capacity of the warehouse and transportation capacity nationwide and improvements in the operation. Excel with Power BI (Automate recurrent task, provide cloud support).
 - Standardize inventory protocols for a retail company. Design the map for the warehouse and supervise the inventory and operational staff members while the transition to a new warehouse.
- I Enjoy a fast pace environment and team work and go the extra mile to find the answers to several problems, I always do my job in looking at standards of quality and efficiency.

EMPLOYMENT HISTORY

Community Content Management Specialist-London EMEA at Bytedance, London November 2020 — Present

As a global company the Trust and Safety department validates the content uploaded to the platform by the users so that we can identify possible threats to individuals or the company. Regulations change very often and companies have to adapt, the TnS team would prevent any non-approved content to go in the platform and become a trend. In my time at the company I have achieved my personal and company targets (C+ last seven months), I have also been involved in the training for special projects now with clearance to several Global markets.

Operations Coordinator at Unique Ventures, London September 2019 — November 2020

My role consisted in planning and controlling the field team, cleaners, maintenance, supervisors, runners(50 people on a daily basis), plan their tasks for the day in order to provide the best service to our customers. Control the communications channels for our third parties and internal requests. Develop new tools for the operations team to standardise repetitive processes inventories, planning, security standards.
